Five thousand persons, including many prominent members of the clergy and laity, are expected to attend this reception, which will be additionally interesting, as both O lirien and Dillon will inaugurate their lecture tour here by describing the present condition of affairs in Ireland.

By that time it is believed Messrs, Sullivan and Harrington, the other two Home Rulers, will have arrived here from London, and the five members will then man out their route to the various cities which are to be visited, and divide their work among them. O Brien and Dillon will speak in all the big cities of the United States, and about February the party will return to England.

Though it is not the first trip O Brien and Dillon have made to the United States in behalf of the Parnell movement, their coming at the particular time is the more notable and interesting by reason of the difficulties and obstacles that were placed in their way by the English officials.

Some weeks ago the constablery in Tipperary were assaulted at a Nationalist gathering, and following closely thereon O liferon and Dillon were arrested on a charge of conspicacy, in inciting tenants to refuse to payrent.
